SYMPTOMS

One of the most common and difficult to control diseases among pigeons is CRD, Chronic Respiratory Disease (infectious Coryza). Often associated with CRD are colds, pneumonia and roup. In fact, birds will often contract a cold first, and if not treated quickly, can develop other diseases. Immediate treatment with VetRx Pigeon Remedy can often alleviate symptoms caused by colds and other problems which may follow.

First signs are usually sneezing and rattly cough, often accompanied by mucous discharge. This discharge normally precedes the discoloration of the ceres, a fleshy structure at the base of the upper beak. Tissue around the eyes and cheeks appear slightly inflamed and swollen.

Soon, there is diminishing appetite and thirst. Because breathing becomes difficult, afflicted birds will hesitate to fly. If they do fly, they may drop gasping, breathing with the mouth open wide.

Sometimes the windpipe and bronchial tubes are affected. Then you will hear a rasping sound with each breath. This can be heard more easily at night when birds roost.

TREATMENTS

Always Use VetRx Warm, Open cap. Put bottle in small pan of water. Heat at medium temperature. Always test temperature of product before applying internally or externally.

Prepare solution -- Into one-half cup of very warm water, mix one teaspoon of VetRx Pigeon Remedy. Use this solution for the following treatments.

Nostrils and Throat -- Using a medicine dropper, treat both nostrils with two drops in each. Continue this treatment twice daily for 7 days. During this 7 days treatment you may also put one drop down the birds throat each time you treat nostrils. This will help keep throat passages clean.

Eye Pack -- If eyes are badly swollen, make a pack about one-inch square from hospital cotton. Dip pack into solution and place over infected eye. Then, with another piece of cotton, gently drip warm solution over eye pack. Continue for about five minutes each day for several days, until you note improvement.

Under Wings -- Put a drop of VetRx full strength (warm) from bottle under wings of each bird you are treating. When bird puts its head under either wing while resting, the vapors will help relieve cold symptoms.

Canker Removal -- If you see a small canker in the throat, treat throat with warm drops,
